Dowser Wayne Cook

Water, water everywhere?

By JOAN MURNIGHAN

Once in awhile someone comes along — part mystic — part practical business man — with a story that boggles the mind. Such is Wayne Cook, "dowser" extraordinaire from Carmel Valley. Cook, who has been using his "divining rod" to locate well locations for individuals for years, has now been thrust into the local limelight with the current water shortage.

As a result, a group of interested citizens have set up a Peninsula Water Fund with Jean Darragh acting as treasurer. It is hoped that enough small donations can be received from hundreds of people to finance the drilling of a well at a site specified by Cook's unique powers. In order to convince the population of Cook's credibility, a meeting has been scheduled for April 13 at 7 p.m. at the Robert Down School, at which time Cook will demonstrate his abilities and explain what he hopes to do.

Before all you skeptics put this down, listen for a minute to Cook's background:

"I started mining in the Opal Mountain quadrangle about 60 miles from Barstow," he relates. "I was going up to the mine on a really hot day when I glanced over to the left of the road and saw the head and shoulders of a man. He waved his arms and then he disappeared. I went up the road a bit and then decided I'd better go back and see what it was. I went back and looked all around and I found a guy there face down in the sand. I turned him over and revived him and I discovered he had walked about 15 miles in this desert without a drop of water and was totally dehydrated. On the way back up to fix his truck, we were discussing the importance of water and what a fine line there is between success and failure and life and death without water. While I was working on his truck, he went off and cut a "witch stick" or "divining rod," or whatever you care to call it. By the way, it was originally called a witch stick because it was usually cut from the witch hazel bush which had a rather symmetrical growth. Had it been a plum tree, we probably would have been going 'pluming.'

"We set my thermos on the ground," Cook continues, "and he walked around with this stick in his hand, his fingers closed tightly around it and every time it would get over the thermos jug, it would darn near jerk him in it. He talked me into taking the stick in my hands and walking around and bringing it over the thermos jug, and I felt an energy flow through the palms of my hands that I had never felt before. I felt the end of that stick pull down and start to tremble as it went down."

That chance meeting with the prospector changed Wayne Cook's whole life. He went on up to the mine with the stick and started experimenting with it. For years he worked on routine experiments with the rod and he noticed something peculiar happening. At the end of the year, the rod became so strong that he could pull back on it and break it in two. About a year later, he discovered that totally wet ground had no pull on the stick. This began to turn on the lights.

He got two bottles of distilled water and opened them. The rod didn't react at all. He then took a pinch of material from the mine and dropped it in the jug and the stick reacted violently. Rain water is really distilled water with no mineral content.

"Underground," Cook explained, "there is a tremendous circulatory system of water made by the same force that makes the blood in your body — I call it God — and it's all electrical. With this information, I bought every book I could find on water dowsing. Every one of them said, 'We do not know what makes it work, but it works.' So I threw them all away and I bought everything I could find on electronics, solid state transistors, simple atomic equations, everything I could find, knowing full well that I had in the palm of my hand the answer to not only why the dowsing rod works but, quite possibly the whole secret of life. I started a methodical search for my own answers."

At this point Cook took out his single rod and gave a demonstration. "I discovered that the body is split into circuits. I call them quadrant polarities. Every mineral has its own frequency. In working in a mine with a large variety of minerals, I had inadvertently added some of each to my own body chemistry. My energy level had taken a dramatic rise and I had illnesses disappear — even my annual cold. I started then to find out how this electrical energy, or the battery, expresses itself in the body. Here's what I came up with:

"The body is a solid state, transistorized electrical entity. When I wind four turns of electrical induction around a core, (his four fingers) I energize this rod to a positive and negative flow of bio-magnetic energy. The "battery" is electro-chemical, the expression is bio-magnetic and the control is psycho-energetic."

Cook then proceeded to place the rod below his left foot. At this point it began to swivel in a clockwise circle. When he moves the rod to the edge of the foot, it goes up and down, which is a neutral reaction. When placed at the bottom of the right foot, the rod will rotate in a counter-clockwise circle. (Space does not permit covering the variety of demonstrations Cook showed, but anyone can see all of this at the meeting on April 13.)

With the information about our electrical energies, Cook started out to try to find underground water.

"I gave my services away for about five years," he says. "I'd drive for a hundred miles, do a job for a guy, pat him on the back and just ask him to let me know how it turned out. Successes started coming in."

He then took into his two hands his double divining rod, made with two solid copper cores as handles, with heavy metal rods which cross at the top. Holding this rod over a bottle of minerals, the rod dipped dramatically.

WAYNE COOK

Moving it to the site, the rod searched out the bottle. This is the technique used to find the underground water source.

His successes are not limited to any particular area. From Mint Canyon on Old Sierra Highway near Burbank, the Merritt Sharps write: "For the past twenty years in that area, two gallons a minute was considered fortunate. You told us we would get water at 240 feet. As it turned out, we got a good well at 234 feet which is pumping 30 gallons a minute."

The Herb Kellogg Ranch in Landcaster had a continuing water problem with their best well pumping sand and air. Kellogg writes, "You came up to the ranch and explained your system and gave me a demonstration as how you operate. I was amazed as well as pleased with what I saw, but the test was still to come. I called the well driller in our area, Rotman Drilling Company, and within two weeks we tested the well. It tested at 2200 gallons per minute and the final setting is at 425 feet. We are pumping steady at 1000 gallons per minute with no sand or air at this depth."

Other letters have come from around the State indicating success in finding underground water. Now Cook assures us that there is a large underwater river under Carmel Valley. He is confident that he can find it and that a test well will prove him right. He has convinced a number of his fellow citizens, including Warren Beach and Tony Havea, who are donating their services as printers, and Joe Pierre, who designed the Wayne Cook logo. Now he is presenting his case to the general public. He is ready to answer skeptics and hopes that he will convince enough people to pay for the test drilling.

Even if the concept of dowsing "turns you off," you probably won't be bored with Mr. Cook, and you might even find that you and your faucets are "turned on."

Linda and Kevin

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques H. Wilson of Carmel Valley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Linda Jane Wilson, to Kevin Robert Dougherty of Sacramento.

Miss Wilson, who is a graduate of Carmel High School, is attending Sacramento City College. She is the sister of Jack, Susan, and Cynthia, all of Carmel Valley.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Sacramento City College, and plans a career in Law Enforcement. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Dougherty, and the brother of Michael Benoist, all of Sacramento.

The couple plan an October wedding.

Easter egg hunt

There will be a replay of a holiday tradition on Easter Sunday at the Fire House on Via Contenta where special arrangements have been made with the Easter Bunny to hide a quantity of multi-colored eggs for Valley small-fry, eight and under.

PLANS for an autumn wedding were recently disclosed by Linda Jane Wilson, Carmel Valley, and Kevin Robert Dougherty of Sacramento.

Members of the Sand-box set are invited to bring their Easter Basket to the Fire House at 1:00 p.m. on Sunday, where they will find that the Firemen have divided the "hunting grounds" according to age groups.

Fireman Larry Cisneros, assisted by fireman Ken Van Hagen, promise candy treats for all participants. There will also be prizes and some very special Golden eggs.

The public is invited to view the fun — from behind the barricades.

Rummage sale

Articles to recycle for rescue equipment will be accepted through Friday by members of the Mid-Valley Fire Department who have scheduled an equipment benefit "Fire Sale" for Saturday, April 9, beginning at 8:00 a.m. Pickups may be arranged by phoning 624-5907.

Marge Kohler, chairman of the Rummage Sale, has already acquired a good selection of used items in all departments including good clothing, electric clocks and animal feeders. Come early for bargains to the Mid-Valley Fire Station across from Carmelo School on West Carmel Valley Road.

ALEX OLMSTED (L) sings a chorus of "Wedding Bells are Breaking Up that Old Gang of Mine," following the presentation of a money tree to Walley Le Valley who soon relinquishes the title of "The most eligible bachelor in the Valley of Carmel" when he weds Mary Kay Bridges. Both are faculty members at Carmel High School.

When plans for the spring wedding of Mary Kay Bridges and Walley Le Valley were recently announced, members of the exclusive Monday-Night-Robles-Del-Rio-Football-Fraternity plotted a surprise stag party honoring Walley in the waning hours of his bachelorhood.

Ray Gear, a fellow faculty member at Carmel High School, lured the unsuspecting guest of honor to the residence of Jiggs Olmsted. Quantities of good food had been prepared by the wives of the guests before departing for the movie, "Rocky." (There were also generous servings of advice and appropriate toasts to the couple's future!)

Since the bridegroom-to-be and most of the guests are long time residents of the Valley of Carmel, the recycled "Money Tree" presented during the evening had special significance on this auspicious occasion. It had long held a place of honor at the infamous "Watering Hole" at Rosie's Cracker Barrel. It was made for Rosie many Christmases past by Dorothy Estill who taught at Tularcitos until she retired.

In addition to Jiggs and Ray, those in attendance were Alex Olmsted, George T.C. Smith, Rosie Henry, Jack Jones, John Anderson, Sonny Azcarate, Tom Bridges, Pete Bibber, Chuck Olmsted, Mo Moulinson, Milton Branstetter, Carroll Smith, Rick Miller, Jim Brown, and Will Kramer.

Get well cards

Get-well-cards would brighten the day for two Valley-ites who are patients at Silas B. Hays Hospital at Fort Ord. Robles Del Rio resident, General (USA Ret.) Robert O. Bare is a patient there, as is Bill Colohan, recovering from surgery to correct shoulder injuries sustained during basketball season at Carmel High School.

Chapel Guild ensemble

Members of the Hidden Valley Opera Ensemble will present selections from their current works at the next meeting of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild on Wednesday, April 13th.

All friends of the Guild are invited to attend the 1:00 p.m. program to be presented in the Chapel on Village Drive following a brief business meeting which will begin at 12:15.

Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. Ed Mayfield will co-host a tea after the program in Fellowship Hall. Assisting them will be Mrs. Carl Naslund and Mrs. Elbert Wade.

"Shamrock" theme

Green pistachio cake and shamrocks in the decor left little doubt that the Social Club of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild was paying tribute to St. Patrick at their March benefit bridge and canasta party.

Co-hostesses, Vera Stokes and Elizabeth Hoisington announced the high point winners of the day to be: Edna Lewis and Vera Bautz, first in bridge and canasta; and Dorothy Gonzanbach and Gay Brownrigg, second in bridge and canasta.

Table prizes were taken home by Rachel Swanson, Polly Black, Frances Anthony, Ruth Wade, Billie Mans, June Fallows, Bernice Leoni, and Jean Stekly.

A new player welcomed to the monthly gathering was Beverly Doud.

The April party is scheduled for the 20th with Jean Stekly working on party arrangements.

Spring card benefit

"Spring is busting out all over with greenery" — was the theme announced to the 44 guests in attendance at the March benefit bridge and canasta party sponsored by St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church.

Kathryn Walker hosted the affair at her Flight Road home assisted by Carlyle Mothersill and Peggy Kvenild. They followed their green theme by alternating white table cloths and green place mats with green table cloths and white place mats. They used pretty dish gardens featuring five varieties of succulents and a cunning figurine for centerpieces. These were later awarded as table prizes to: Mary Young, Irma Bolgard, Billie Mans, Ruth Mullins, Martha Huff, Irene Selfridge, Novella Nicholson, Gay Brownrigg, Vera Leist, Nellie Mirani and Elizabeth Hoisington.

Mrs. Mirani and Mrs. Hoisington placed first and second in canasta and Mrs. Mullins and Mrs. Young took first and second in bridge.

Pistachio pie was the dessert treat; while the exotic blooming white phalaenopsis orchids blooming in the lanai were a feast for the eyes.

Reservations may now be made for the April 27 party by phoning Kathryn Walker — 659-2280. Her co-hostesses for that date will be Ann Melching and Mary Young.

The cost of heating a house is still going up. Hot air rises, too. That's why the attic is often where most home heat-loss takes place. Insulating an unfinished attic up to R-19, the recommended standard, can save up to 25% of your heat. And you'll be more comfortable.

In a typical California house it should cost about $300 to $400 if you get a qualified contractor to do it. Less if you do it yourself.

Bottle history - - classy glass

Bottles won the west.

That's the way Bruce Kendall, manager of Carmel Builder's Supply, looks at it. He's also treasurer of the Mission Trail Historical Bottle Club and looking forward to "The First Annual Monterey Peninsula Antique Bottle Show and Sale," to be held May 14 and 15 at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

The purpose of the free bottle show, Kendall says, is to educate the public as to just how important bottles were in our history. According to Kendall, the west was conquered thanks to three things: gold seekers, whiskey and medicine, and condiments that made food palatable. Two of those three forces were put up in bottles and jars. (Kendall puns that the remaining force, the gold miner, was often crooked). "Without the miners," Kendall says, "there would have been delayed for years, the development of our land. And without the bottled spirits and medicines, they could not have endured."

Kendall also stresses that 19th Century food containers had a lot to do with civilizing the west, sustaining the hearty workers in their search for gold.

"Many food sauces were used to make the food taste better," Kendall says. "In fact, A-1 Sauce has been available for 150 years."

BRUCE KENDALL, local bottle collector and manager of Carmel Builder's Supply.

Hip flasks came into popularity, Kendall says, because of the need to transport strong spirits to lonely outposts.

Kendall admits that glass is so plentiful now that we tend to take it for granted. What the upcoming bottle show will be attempting to do, Kendall explains, is acquaint the general public with the historical significance of the bottles and jars used by our forefathers and their forefathers before them.

Most bottles are found by digging the old homesteads, cisterns, outhouses and trash dumps.

"A veritable treasure trove of old glass is buried in our country," says Kendall. "In fact, one of the early bottle books was named 'Redigging the West,' by Lynn Blumenstein. The great value of many of these early containers (1800 to 1900) is in their unique shape or color and the embossment in the glass bottle itself. Figural cabins, historical flasks, whiskeys, patent medicines, inks and — above all — the bitters, are the important bottle types."

A bottle collector apparently falls in love with the object of his hunt and sees real beauty in the colors of the various glasses — purple, milk white, aqua, amber, green and cobalt.

"A collector will research old maps, looking for old townsites and other places to dig," Kendall explains. "Then, with his discoveries, he will research the bottles themselves in old books, histories and newspapers. He will find out, for instance, if old American Glass House did handblown bottles, who manufactured the product, and — if possible — who distributed it."

The historical bottle seeker has his work cut out for him though. There were at least 10,000 medicine products alone, plus thousands in each and every other category, explains Kendall.

The Mission Trail Historical Bottle Club, Peninsula based, is teaming up with the San Jose Antique Bottle Collectors Assn. for the mid-May show. The club does have regular meetings too, the second Wednesday of each month in the Monterey County Board of Education building in Salinas, when a show and tell of historical bottles, along with some sales, take place.

Chapel activities

On Maundy Thursday, at 6 p.m., the Fidelity Club and the families of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, will have a pot-luck supper together, followed by a program on the last days in the life of Christ, with special emphasis on the Lord's Last Supper.

Easter Sunday, at 11 a.m., both the Church School and morning worship will be held. The chapel choir will sing "Awake, Awake, Believers," Alan Oppenheisen will sing a solo, and the Rev. Johnson will speak on the "Joy of Easter".

Also, the first in a series of "Out of My Life Experiences" will be told by a lay-person of the chapel. The public is cordially invited.

Leaflet offer

The popular University of California Cooperative Extension leaflet "The Light Horse" has been revised and is available at no cost by writing P.O. Box 1629, Richmond, California 94804.

"Two key additions to the revised publication are tables on disease that can be controlled by vaccination and on control of parasites," says Reuben Albaugh, UC horse specialist and one of the authors.

Feeding, handling, grooming, care of equipment, and horse judging are some of the other topics covered, making the leaflet a valuable addition to any horse owner's library.

Keatinge exhibits

A colorful exhibition of watercolor paintings by Carmel artist Elizabeth Keatinge may be seen at the Wells Fargo Bank in Carmel on Dolores through May 5th.

This artist studied at the California College of Arts and Crafts and has worked with Eliot O'Hara, N.A., George Post and Jade Fon.

She has exhibited at the San Francisco Museum of Art, the Oakland Art Museum, California State Fair, Society of Western Artists, American Artists Professional League, Annual Watercolor Competitive, and the Carmel Art Association.

at 8:15 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, April 14 and 15, at Sunset Auditorium in Carmel. The film will be narrated in person by its producer, Ken Wolfgang.

The Explorama presentation tells the story of Wolfgang's personal pilgrimage in India. In the film, he explores India's various contrasts of past and present, young and old, urban and rural.

Wolfgang has been producing travel-adventure films since the early sixties and has specialized in films dealing with Asiatic countries. He spent six months on location in India and traveled from the Himalayas in the north to India's southern shores. His goal in the film is to help American audiences understand India and her people.

A restaurant is a restaurant is a restaurant

...except in the case of The Cafe Balthazar or Gertrude Stein Memorial Cafe on Forest just below Lighthouse in Pacific Grove. Lisa Kraal, well known for her gourmet food at the now absent Cafe Cassis in Carmel, and Judi Russell, whose photographs and works of art have been seen at Hartnell, have opened an eclectic haven for vegetarian diners, amid antiques and paintings. Nonnie Vishner (from the Bronx) will seat you at one of the old tables, or if you should have to wait for the latter, will escort you to a mini-sitting room, furnished with antiques and mirrors. Waiting for a table is not a drag here! Displayed throughout the rooms are marvelous things to look at. A whole village is set up on a ping pong table, with a miniature train and tiny buildings for you to peek at. Or you might enjoy the ceramics along a shelf over one of the tables. A battle scene is set up, with a caption that goes like this: "Bring me the head of Garcia Lorca... and a side order of fries." Catch this quickly, before April 9th. There is a wall of cartoons, and a "window box" of fresh fruit, complimented by the blue cafe curtains. While all this sounds like a hodge-podge, it is not, and shows careful thought in its arrangement to make it visually pleasing. Each month new artists exhibit their works, and this month Lisa and Judi will feature Marie Brumund's startling watercolors, beginning on April 12th. There will be a party from 7 to 9 with wine and cheese served.

I've saved the best for last. The food is marvelous! Their menu includes smoked trout, oysters or clams, escargot, an artichoke with herbs, Salade Nicoise, all kinds of sandwiches including bagels and lox, Cioppino, steamed fresh vegetables with hollandaise, and exciting deserts such as Scobie's Cake, a honey-nut-pineapple-whipped cream carrot cake. There is a daily special, which I decided to enjoy, and was not disappointed. The special enchiladas were filled with spinach, natural cheddar cheese, mushrooms, onions, and a mild chilli seasoning, topped with sour cream and a black olive.

The special was accompanied by a perfectly herbed salad with an oil and vinegar dressing, and a hot... I repeat... HOT loaf of french bread and a tub of butter.

This is not just a restaurant. It is a community meeting place, and they have held a successful Backgammon tourney. Nonnie Vishner used the environment to form a theatre group to further the improvement of the quality of legitimate theatre on the Peninsula. If you drop by on a Friday or Saturday evening, you will often find some entertainment going on after the dinner hour is over. Easter Sunday brunch will be served from 10 to 2. Fresh fruit and champagne, and traditional dishes will be served. Well worth a visit, and a return trip or two.

MONO PRINTS AND COLOR PLAYS

Mono prints and color plays by Susie G. Sarpkaya are on display at the Carmel Foundation during April. Sarpkaya, a Peninsula resident, uses water colors, acrylics and inks.

GLENN TINTURIN

Tinturin at NPS

The young American guitarist, Glenn Tinturin, will present a solo concert at the Naval Postgraduate School's Ingersoll Hall auditorium at 8 p.m. on April 16 (changed from April 2).

Sponsored by the NPS Music Society, the concert will include the premiere of a fantasy for guitar written by Tinturin's father, the noted composer Peter Tinturin, who has written the scores for more than 100 motion pictures.

Tinturin is the protege of the distinguished teacher

Guy Horn. At the age of 17 he won the coveted Young Musicians Foundation Award in Los Angeles. Since then, he has performed with many Southern California symphonies, and was featured in a performance of the "Tedesco Concerto" at last year's Carmel Classic Guitar Festival.

Tickets for the concert are available at Abinante's in Monterey, Lily Walker's in Pacific Grove, Carmel Music in Carmel, and the Student Mail Center in NPS's Herrmann Hall.

"A LITTLE LIGHT MUSIC," starring Bob Lester and Gina Welch, will open at the Wharf Theatre on Monterey's Fisherman's Wharf on April 15th.

'Road to Frisco' opens

"Road to Frisco," a mid-19th century melodrama by British playwright William Charles Macready, opened last weekend at the First Theatre in Monterey. The play is scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings through May.

The play is presented by The Troupers of the Gold Coast.

The plot revolves around several crooks, a woman and a pair of Irish comedians who are all searching for gold in the mountains of California. As is traditional, the play is one which delighted audiences around the time that Monterey was capital of the state and the First Theatre flourished.

For reservations, phone 375-4916 Wednesday through Saturday after 1 p.m.

GALLATIN'S restaurant announces that Mrs. Jahanne Powers has recently taken in two equal partners, Kara Michael and Paul D. Johnson. Gallatin's is located in the old Stokes adobe in Monterey.

CVPOA discusses new committees

At its regular board of directors meeting on March 4, the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association proposed a new committee structure designed for more effective operation of the CVPOA. Proposed committees and persons recommended as chairmen or members are: Telephone Tree — Dorothy Chappell, Betty Rowe, Virginia Kay; Quarterly meetings (three sub-committees) — Hospitality-Arrangements (Lucy Smithson), Program (Robert von Pagenhardt) Fund raising (Robert Marble); Newsletter, John

Broberg; Publicity, Glen Chang; Master Plan, Herb Sherman; Membership, Peggy Arnold.

Arnold told the board that 28 new members were signed up this month, for a total of 552 paid members to date. Sherman reported assets of almost $5000.

A tentative date for the CVPOA quarterly meeting was set as April 28.

Sierra Club against flood control measure

The Ventana Chapter of Sierra Club has announced its support for the proposed Peninsula Water District Act, but urged Peninsula residents to vote "no" on both Zone 11 Flood Control District propositions in the election this month. "We believe a water management district covering this region is long overdue," said Rod Holmgren, chapter chairman. "However, we also believe a 'yes' vote on the Zone 11 water district would make it next to impossible to get the needed improvements in the water district bill introduced by Assemblyman Mello last week.

"There are still many clauses in the 79-page Mello bill that need to be re-written or taken out so that all interests on the Peninsula would be protected, not just the commercial interests," he said.

Salinas Valley Fair deadline is Friday

The 1977 Salinas Valley Fair will be held at King City almost a month earlier than last year, and directors don't want any prospective exhibitors to be caught napping. So Anita Johnson, Fair Manager, today issued an urgent reminder that the deadline for all entries, except the Open Horse Show and Potted Plants and Cut Flowers in the Floriculture Division, is Friday, April 8, at close of the business day. Mailed entries postmarked by midnight, April 8, will also be accepted. Mrs. Johnson stated that fair staff personnel are on duty to assist would-be entrants in completing entry forms and to answer any questions they may have with regard to their entries.

Persons who have not yet picked up entry forms may do so at the Fair Administration Office, 625 Division Street, King City; the Agricultural Extension Office, 118 Wilgart Way, Salinas; or at Casey Newspapers offices in Gonzales, Soledad and Greenfield.

The 1977 Salinas Valley Fair will be held May 12 through 15. Its theme will be "Roll Out the Barrel," and will include big name entertainers as well as many other special features which have been associated with the Spring Fair through the years.

Savings Rate Guide for Beginners

OUR REGULAR 5 1/4% PASSBOOK SAVINGS ACCOUNT

EXPLAINED: This is the most basic and popular savings account — the account everyone thinks of when they talk about "savings." And aside from paying you 5 1/4% interest, compounded daily, our Passbook Account offers you flexibility. You can put your money in or take it out whenever you wish. It happens to be our best seller and a real favorite with our customers. Now, how does our 5 1/4% Passbook Account stack up? Well, the banks simply don't pay as high a rate for the same type of account. Many so-called "passbook accounts" are really certificates of deposit with definite restrictions. It might pay you to check on this.

DAY-TO-DAY INTEREST, WHAT IS IT? It means that your savings will earn interest, literally, for every day your money is on deposit — even if you take it out before the end of the quarter. Day-to-day interest means that you will be just a little bit richer tomorrow than you are today. And here's something else we offer: money deposited with us by the 10th of the month will earn interest from the 1st when left on deposit until the end of the quarter. That's up to 10 free days of interest, and again, a little bit richer for you.

WHAT ABOUT SAFETY ON YOUR SAVINGS? At Monterey Savings, your dollars are safeguarded by sound local investment, substantial reserves, and conscientious local management. In addition, your savings with us are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the United States Government. Combined accounts can be insured for up to $560,000. Safety? At Monterey Savings you can count on it!

HOW TO EARN AS MUCH AS 7 3/4% ON YOUR SAVINGS. If you plan to keep or put your savings aside for a while, you should consider our 7 3/4% Savings Certificate (actually, 8.06% when held to maturity). It has a minimum term requirement of six to ten years on an opening balance of $1,000 or more. Also available are Savings Certificates paying 5 3/4% - 6 1/2% - 6 3/4% and 7 1/2% interest. These higher interest rates are possible because of your time commitment to us with your savings. Federal regulations require an interest penalty for early withdrawals from Certificate Accounts. When it comes to saving money, come to Monterey Savings where interest is always compounded daily.

And for additional peace of mind, we think that you'll be as proud as we are to know that the dollars you save with us stay here in the Monterey Bay Area, where they belong. Not many associations can stake that claim, and in the long run, it could make your entire life a whole lot richer.

Oil spill bill to be considered by state

Establishing the civil liability period for oil companies in the event of an oil spill is one of the main tenets in SB 167, authored by Sen. Jerry Smith of San Jose. The bill asks that a penalty cover each day it takes to clean up the spilled oil rather than to impose the penalty only on the day of occurrence.

The bill also states that the liability be imposed without requiring proof of intent or negligence with exception for those cases when the oil discharge is shown to be an act of God or war, or an act of omission of a third party, or was not more than two undiluted barrels of oil.

Cleanup of the oil spill is to be determined by the Department of Fish and Game, according to SB 167. Liability is set in an amount not to exceed $6,000 per 1,000 gallons of oil. Should the cleanup period exceed 20 days, an additional liability penalty of $6,000 per day will be imposed until the cleanup is complete, with cleanup standards set by the DFG.

Sen. Robert Nimmo objects to the bill saying that it does not address itself to the ocean-going tanker situation, which he feels has already been addressed in current law, according to his legislative aide LeRoy Bennett.

Bennett explains the senator feels the bill would impose exorbitant fines for spills, in addition to the cleanup costs, in instances not involving major oil companies. He is critical of the bill for using the term "all state waters," which he feels is too inclusive. Nimmo specifically objects to the $6,000 per day penalty which could be imposed if satisfactory cleanup conditions are not met. Finally, he objects to the bill because the burden of proof is on the accused, which he says is not in the tradition of our country.

Assemblyman Henry Mello says he supports the bill "in its present form." He feels there is a need for our laws to show more concern in regard to oil spills and that the oil carriers need to bear the costs for these spills. "With the possibility of Moss Landing becoming a major port for unloading oil," he explains, "we need to insure protection." Mello feels SB 167 will work with existing laws. "We in California need to take whatever steps are necessary to protect our own resources," he adds, noting California can not rely on the federal government to set all guidelines.

Both the Monterey and Santa Cruz County Boards of Supervisors have passed orders supporting SB 167. At present the bill is in committee and comes up for a vote in the Senate Agriculture and Water Committee on April 19.

HERE'S A MESSAGE FOR ALL OUR HONORARY METER READERS

Many of our customers are faithfully reading their meters, realizing the only way to keep track of actual water usage is by actual meter reading.

There are a few easy steps to keep in mind each time you read your meter:

- Be sure to replace the meter cover every time you read the meter . . . You don't want someone breaking a leg stepping in your meter box.
- Remember to record the lower of the two numbers if the indicator is between two numbers . . . If the indicator is between 0 and 1, record 0. If it is between 9 and 0, record 9.
- If there is condensation on the underside of the glass, gently tap the side of the meter. This should cause the drops to fall . . . Under no circumstances should you break the seal on the meter as this is unlawful.
- If you need assistance, call the service department for repairs at 373-3051 or the Hotline for questions at 375-5117. Keep up the good work!
